Ok. I will be available at our previously scheduled time.
Supplement? No, I want it to become my income. I'm not looking to become rich and I don't have great expectations. I just want an income to live off of.

David,

Thanks for reaching out. I know you are working part time right now. This strategy would be perfect for your situation. Selling options is an income generating strategy. This will give you the ability to supplement your part time employment with that additional income generation. I'd like to keep this appoint to show you how we can do that. Please let me know how you wish to proceed.

Sincerely,

Jeremy Ruth
